Máximo is also founder of the 'Changarrito Project', which is conceived as a non-profit cultural project. He developed 'Changarrito' as an alternative platform where several artistic expressions co-exist, open to all ideologies, trends, and aesthetic tastes, named after Mexico's slang for small store or stand where informal trade occurs. 'Changarrito' serves as a platform to promote, support, and show the work of visual artists, novelists, poets, curators, designers, performers, filmmakers, etc. A project that began as a curatorial counter-proposal for being presented in Madrid's ARCO in 2005, allowing uninvited artists to be exhibited in a world-class art fair. Little by little it began to generate a network of followers and supporters and became an alternative platform to promote art practitioners.

Since 2012 'Changarrito' has been actively operating in Mexic-Art Museum in Austin, Texas, (USA) working with local and Latin American artists.

‘Changarrito’ was invited to participate twice at the Mexico Pavilion in the Venice Biennale (2011, accompanying artist Melanie Smith, curated by José Luis Barrios, and 2013 accompanying Ariel Guzik, curated by Itala Schmeltz) The ‘Changarrito Collection’ has more than 1,500 works in its collection and carries out the ‘International Changarrito Residency’ in Mexico City, with more than 10 international guests.

In 2010 Changarrito creates 'Letritas del Changarrito', an independent editorial with 12 published books.
